Long Bio

Based in the heart of Mexico City, Tradicional Preferente has built a unique aesthetic that crosses borders without asking for permission. Their music is a ritual where traditional Latin rhythms, Afro-Caribbean cadences, and alternative rock textures coexist seamlessly.

The project is directed and produced by Blazko Scaniglia (Lead Vocals & Guitar), a multi-faceted artist with a rich background in cinema, musical theater, circus, cabaret, opera, and flamenco. His performance style blends vocal power with biting humor and contemporary theatricality, turning every show into a meeting point between the ancestral and the modern.

Since their first live shows in 2022, the band has cultivated a loyal following drawn to their mix of satire, emotional tension, and pure celebration. Their repertoire moves from soulful boleros and son to deep grooves of cha-cha-chá and mambo, driven by electric guitars designed for the dance floor.

In 2026, the band is touring their latest work, Fusión Pagana, recorded in iconic Buenos Aires studios—including Unísono (Gustavo Cerati's former studio), Ion, and Romaphonic
